Summary

I am a dynamic Instructional Designer with a focus on creating meaningful and effective learning experiences for users. With several years experience formulating and executing fun, engaging and high-quality training content I'm able to meet organization's and learner's needs. I'm a self-starter, highly-motivated and successfully create results-driven training using proven adult-learning theory and the latest instructional design theory. My goal is to create impactful, lasting learning experiences a part of every organization's repertoire.
